AT CITY HALL

The Elba City Council held its first meeting of the month last Monday night in the City Hall. All members were present. The minutes were approved without reading as each member had a typed copy of them.

The first order of business was the report by the Police Chief, Chief Smart gave the results of the cases made against individuals by the police department and also reported on the hunt for a radio operator.

The next order of business was to discuss the local airport and the airport needs with Dorsey pilot Bill Oggs. The council had asked Oggs to appear and answer some of their questions from the viewpoint of a pilot. Oggs expressed the need for additional runway and ideas about the proper way to manage the activities of the local airport. The council made no decisions about the airport but promised to research ways of extending the airport and ideas about the proper way to manage the activities of the local airport.

The council approved payment on bills for the recreation department totaling $1,099.25. They also authorized additional paving at the Mulberry pool to cut down the large amount of dirt being tracked into the pool.

The council approved General Fund bills totaling $5,334.37.

Also discussed were garbage and sewage fees with the council deciding that persons not desiring city garbage service could sign a card at the city hall and they would not be billed for the service.

The council discussed the garbage fee charged to the Robo Wash and decided to remove this charge as the water from the Robo went into the storm drains and not into the sewage system.

The group discussed the gas fitters bond again and decided to enforce the city code with requires that gas

Special Stamp Unveiled

Governor Albert Brewer said that Alabamians will soon be able to buy the first United States postage stamp ever to honor the State of Alabama.

The stamp, which honors the 150th anniversary of the state, was unveiled in Montgomery recently by Governor Brewer and U. S. Postmaster - General Winston M. Blount.

The stamp goes on sale August 2 in Huntsville. The North Alabama city was chosen for the first day sale because it was the first capitol of Alabama when statehood was conferred on the territory in 1819.

Officials of the Alabama Sesquicentennial Commission said that citizens can obtain first day covers by sending a self-addressed envelope and the proper change for the stamps to the Postmaster in Huntsville. The envelope should be marked, "First Day Covers, Six-Cent, Alabama Sesquicentennial Stamp."

The stamps will also go on sale to the general public in post offices throughout America later the same week. Officials say they should be available in all Alabama post offices by August 7. There is no extra cost for the stamps.

The Alabama Sesquicentennial Stamp is the first ever printed in the history of the U. S. Post Office honoring the State of Alabama. Postmaster - General Blount, a Montgomerian, urged Alabamians to use the stamp on their mail, so that it will be spread throughout the world.

"The Area Junior Market Shows were begun last year to give young people the chance to place their animals in area competition," said Presley. "Previously, only scattered county events were open to the young exhibitors."

Presley noted that the number of entries from Coffee County and the 30 other participating counties has increased this year. The program is sponsored by participating county Farm Bureaus, the Alabama Farm Bureau Pork Promotion Committee and the State Department of Agriculture and Industries in cooperation with the Auburn University Extension Service. JUNE

NEW POOL

The new pool in Mulberry Heights opened last Friday afternoon to the thrill of area residents. The youngsters were straining to be the first one into the pool and the adults were laughing at the antics of the youngsters. The pool was not quite full at opening time but that did not slow the children. Some of them were in and out of the mandatory shower so fast they hardly got wet. They laughingly jumped from the cold showers into the cold waters of the pool. There were two life guards on duty for the first few days due to the large number of swimmers.

Jus' Ramblin'
BY
LUCILE K. WOODMAN MCRAE

AN ARTICLE entitled "Big Sur Silence, spectacle, beauty" in Sunday's Birmingham News brought back pleasant memories to me. On the trip through western states and following a visit with Mack's daughter, Martha Louise, in California, we drove through or by the Big Sur which is located South of Carmel on Highway 1, called "Wonderful One." And I can safely agree that it is "overpowering in its beauty, with a quintessential timelessness, sits the vast Big Sur country in California." At the western edge of the United States, it has resisted industrial progress and remains pristine pure in its beauty.

The writer of the article began by saying Big Sur is a loosely defined area lying roughly between the redwood forests collected by the late William Randolph Hearst at San Simeon. I'll be frank I didn't even know about San Simeon but I saw this beautiful castle for miles and miles before we reached the part of the highway that turned off up the mountain to it. We traveled Highway 1 from Los Angeles to San Francisco in 1977 when the United cisco but we stopped so much at interesting places that it took us several days to get there when it had been our plan to make the trip in one day.

The writer, Saul Pitt, an AP correspondent, said "Big Sur, with appropriate poetic justice, it is bordered on the north by people trying to create beauty and on the south by the baronial castle of a man who tried to buy it. What lies in between vastly overwhelms the pretensions of man at both ends."

The Big Sur of California comes and falls and bends and turns in a primal rhythm of contour and mass and color. It is one of the most beautiful natural beauty spots in the world.

JUNE 14 is Flag Day and marks the anniversary of the day in 1777 when the United States flag was adopted. Quoting from the Industrial News Review, "This year it deserves more than the usual routine gestures of observance out of respect for a symbol of freedom that has been spat upon, burned and dragged in the dirt during the past year with alarming impunity by malcontents and bums of all stripes who respect neither the flag nor the United States."

It is a sad commentary on our times that laws have had to be passed protecting the flag from desecration. Until comparatively recently, mutilating the flag, in the minds of most of us, was tantamount to treason. But somehow the fog of permissiveness that has settled miasma-like over the land has obscured our vision of the flag and the deathless ideals that support the Stars and Stripes.

The easiest way to gain perspective on the meaning of the flag is to visualize for a moment the void that would surround us if there simply were no flag - no focal point on which to center the sense of purpose and principles of a nation. In common with the U. S. Constitution, the Declaration of Independence and other physical manifestations of freedom under representative government, the flag makes known to all mankind the reason for our existence. Flag Day is a good opportunity to "follow the colors."

IN THIS DAY and time with all the changes in the printing field we don't hear the saying "the printer's devil" as we did in by-gone years, but all newspapers continue to have a printer's devil even though it may actually be the editor in small shops.

For instance, I referred myself to being "the printer's devil" for years. And I was if doing a little bit of everything that is done in a newspaper shop is any indication, for I did some of everything including getting ink to my elbows. But I never really knew the origin of "the printer's devil." In a recent issue of the Publisher's Auxiliary was an article of two theories on "printer's devil" and both were of a religious background.

One of the reports was that Bernard Y. Wickstrom, editor of the weekly Zephyrus (Fla.) News, sent along the following story, told him "as gospel," one of the legends of the trade by an old time printer:

Some 100 years ago the invention of movable type a printer in southern France hired a young Negro lad to work in his shop.

The people of the community had never seen a boy with black skin, and the rumor was circulated that he was an imp who had been blackened by his association with Old Nick in that place below.

Such a story quickly began to damage the printer's business, and so he published a notice:

"Please be informed that my apprentice is a Moor, from Africa, is black by nature as well as by ink. He is not a devil or an agent of him."

Nevertheless the lad continued to be known in the area as "the printer's devil" and the term has continued since.

Another theory on the origin came from Joseph C. Carter, associate professor of journalism at Temple University and director of the Temple Press Tournament, who points out:

"The apprentice boy who originally cleaned out the hell box, still is called the printer's devil."

Prof. Carter sent along to the Publishers' Auxiliary a photocoupled page from a tome entitled "Origin of Printing Terminology," in which it is stated that printing received its first great impetus in the monasteries, where books were made.

"The monks gave printing its terminology," the book says, "which even today is mostly derived from Latin."

Since monastic chapels were first used as composing rooms, the source points out, such rooms still are called chapels. Prof. Carter's Printing Terminology continues:

Holy water fonts were convenient receptacles for the wooden blocks used as type and a case or a particular style of type still is called a font.

Brevet Type was originally used for setting up monks' breviaries. The word compositor, synonymous with printer, is Latin and means one who puts type together. The Latin word imposition, meaning a laying out, still is used to refer to laying out type. The receptacle for bad type is called the hell box. The Latin terms caret, dele and asterisk still are used in printing. The derivatives folio, quarto, octavo still are used in bookbinding.

That is two of the explanations of "the printer's devil" and I guess as good as any. Other theories on "printer's devil" have been being given but I have missed many of them. It seems that we all have to be interested in some particular something and to wonder as to "why" and I have always wondered why the name "the printer's devil" so you can see I am particularly interested in this information.

And I guess I could still call myself "the printer's devil" because I sure do catch the devil a lot of times.

"There's nothing like a little soft soap to remove a dirty look."

BRAINSTORMS

With Ferrin Cox

The local post office has started selling rolls of six cent stamps with a picture of the American flag. The stamps went on sale last Saturday and you must ask for the flag stamp to get them. In this day of flag burning and people demonstrating for almost everything, it might have the effect of pushing someone else to speak out against this dangerous undermining of the wonderful American way of life.

Several days ago I had the privilege of a visit with former City Clerk Harold Deal. I drove out to his home about eleven a.m. and drank a cup of coffee with him and Eugene Devane. This can only be described as an inspiring trip. Mr. Deal has been disabled for several months yet he has more determination and a brighter outlook than I do. He talks of the fact that he cannot move his legs freely and says that it will take time for him to regain full use of them, yet he is keeping up with what is going on locally, statewide and nationally in anticipation of the time his familiar face returns to the streets of Elba. Many of his friends drive out to the Deal home for a cup of coffee during the morning hours and according to reports, they all come away with a little extra determination in their heart after talking with Harold Deal.

One day last week Minister Jim Auchmuty of the First Baptist Church left me a copy of the modern bible entitled, "Good News For Modern Man." When I came in and saw it, my first impulse was to return it to the giver, with the statement, "Preacher, I had one of these before you did." However, after that first impulsive thought I decided to keep this copy on my desk until my wife, Heddy, wears out the other one and then I will swap with her and it will appear that mine is used regularly.

The Elba City Council has added a garbage fee to every light and water bill. This was done because many users of the garbage pick-up service were not paying for it. It was my impression when this was originally discussed that they felt everyone generated garbage and if they had to pay the fee anyway, maybe some would stop throwing it beside the roads or over the river bridge. Now it appears that if you do not want to pay this fee you do not have to pay it. It was suggested last Monday night that a person could sign a paper stating that they did not want the service and they would not have to pay it. Now, if there are actually people who do not create garbage surely they do not need to be charged $2.50, BUT if this is just back peddling by gun shy City Fathers -- then dear heavens, they are in for a long hot summer!

The ultra conservative group, Liberty Lobby, is chomping at the bits for American to install the anti-ballistic missile (ABM). They have classified their opponents as either "Communist or liberal dupes." They close a recent Emergency Liberty Letter with an appeal for more money to "fight the battle." I do not know if the ABM is good or bad but if I was a borderline case, this letter would have scared me away from their viewpoint - I just can not believe all those "scare tactics."

Our good governor, Albert Brewer, has presented his budget to the state legislature. In this budget is a request for funds to build a new home for the Department of Agriculture. I admire his idea of building out of current funds and not flooding bonds but I question the necessity of this additional building. If you recall only a few years ago the State of Alabama lived out of far less space than it now has and the population has not increased at the rate of the public buildings. Sure a new building would be nice and give more people a private office or suite of offices but would this improve the quality of work turned out by these departments? I think not.

Domestic Steel Shipments Down

Steel shipments by domestic producers declined in February from a year ago when consumers were building inventories as a hedge against possible labor trouble.

American Iron and Steel Institute reported that February shipments totaled 7,092,000 net tons compared with 7,901,000 tons in February 1968.

For the first two months of this year shipments totaled 14,359,000 tons against 15,653,000 tons in the corresponding period of 1968.

Shipments to the automobile market, traditionally the top user of steel mill products, were 1,559,000 tons in February, bringing the total for the year to 3,212,000 tons, a drop of 11.8 percent or 429,000 tons from the first two months of 1968. Shipments to steel service centers declined 5 percent in the period while shipments to the agricultural classification were down 24.2 percent.

HOW MUCH DID A COLOR TV COST 25 YEARS AGO?

Since it didn't exist 25 years ago there is no fair way to estimate the cost. The same reasoning applies to the cost of today's prescriptions. Most of today's drugs didn't even exist 25 years ago, so they could not be bought at any price. sufficient unto the day

Are you a worry expert? Some people gather up all the worries of the past and combine them with the anxieties of the future. These they add to the burdens of the present — a huge bundle indeed.

What a difference it would make in their peace and happiness if they could take each day as it comes.

Jesus said, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." He not only taught but He lived this lesson. Toil and misunderstanding filled the days of His ministry. Yet He met each one with calm assurance. Forgetting the past, He faced each tomorrow with inward peace.

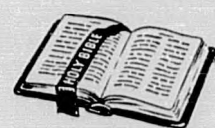

This peace He willed to His followers through all the ages. Come to church and learn how to take this heritage your own.

CERTAIN DRUGS NOT FOR SALE
Because we are a pharmacy we are more than casually concerned with the so-called "Hip Drugs" of the modern generation—"Acid," "Pot," "Pep" Pills, and glue.

LSI IS CALLED "ACID"
A LSD "trip" could be disastrous, for LSD is a very potent, highly hallucinatory, experimental drug that has not yet been proved to be fully medically helpful. Its effects and side effects make it improbable it will ever be safe for regular prescription use. We do not even stock this dangerous drug.

PEP PILLS ARE AMPHETAMINE DRUGS
Under conditions controlled by physicians the amphetamines are an effective treatment in many medical cases. Uncontrolled use can be very dangerous. We keep them for use only in prescriptions.

POT IS MARIJUANA
Although not considered by some experts to be habit forming itself, it is said to lead to a desire for the more potent narcotics. Narcotics are miraculous in relieving pain, but they are disastrous in their habit forming, body destroying effects. The sale of narcotics is tightly regulated for prescriptions. We keep them in a safe place.
